

DON'T WORRY!
*I am Still Alive!
& Thriving :)*

How do I summarize a year in one paragraph?

I regret that my weakness is keeping in touch. I have been working hard, travelling, dealing with stress, sharpened by iron, humbled, and pulled to new heights of leadership! It's been both a challenge and a blessing to witness God's work in Papua New Guinea, through MAF Technologies. I wish you were here to experience the highs and lows with me, I wish I could summarize in one word all the emotions I have been going through the past year, but I cannot. I am sincerely sorry to all my supporters that I have not written sooner, and I hope you can forgive me as you wait patiently.

Key Updates

- I last wrote to you on the 24 April 2024, about my upcoming trip to the UK for home assignment. It was a pleasure to meet up with some of you in person and for the first time!
- My Home assignment trip in the UK was completed July 15, 2024 -September 20, 2024.

Why has it taken me so long to write to you now that we are well into 2025? In truth, we have had a number of staff come and go resulting in less manpower and myself covering a number of roles. I have been acting as General Manager when the General Manager is away on other duties and picking up extra responsibilities. With full on workdays, where I am managing multiple roles, I am often tired after work and on the weekends and have found it hard to look at my laptop again when at home resting. This does not mean that I have lost motivation for the work or passion for what I am doing out here, it just means that I need your support now more than ever!

Please Continue to Pray for me.

This letter serves as a quick and brief update; my next letter will be sent out shortly with detailed updates and the challenges and blessings of the last year to date! :)

Through regular giving you can be a part of this mission.
