Happy Easter

This year, Ed has flown to new locations including Foya, a remote northern community, where MAF delivered motorbike ambulances donated by Swedish nonprofit Eezer Association. These ambulances help pregnant women access healthcare safely as many had lost babies travelling on motorbikes. Read more here.

In February, with no direct flights, Ed travelled 3,000km to go to neighbouring Guinea in order to fly their MAF plane to Liberia for maintenance. Despite thunderstorm buildups, it was a successful trip.

Alongside the regular passengers, Ed had the special opportunity to fly his dad to Harper when his parents visited in January. A local celebrity singer also joined one of Ed's flights which drew in a large crowd of fans to greet them as they landed.

And it's not just been flying for Ed, he's had some speaking engagements, including an online event

Work highlights

- Seeing the motorbike ambulances which MAF delivered in action at Foya
- Visiting the MAF in Guinea programme for the first time and flying their aircraft back to Liberia for maintenance
- Taking dad on a MAF flight for the first time
- Watching the epic welcome reception when landing with a passenger who is a famous Liberian singer with the Vintage Aircraft Club and a radio interview on the aviation fuel cost crisis. He will also be speaking about MAF at another event in June.

Eliana recently celebrated her 6th birthday and we enjoyed introducing our Ethiopian friends to flipping pancakes on Shrove Tuesday! The kids are now in their final term at school and whilst there are still uncertainties about next year we're grateful they are enjoying their time there.

We have had many visitors coming to Liberia to help fill the gaps in the team so Kathy has been busy coordinating their visits. She is still enjoying writing stories for MAF in Papua New Guinea remotely and has also been interviewing some ex MAF staff members about their stories.

At the end of May we shall be returning to the UK to visit some of our partner churches to share more about work and life in Liberia. We hope to see some of you then!
